

DIOCESE OF PARRAMATTA

STATUTES

FOR

PARISH PASTORAL COUNCILS

November 2005

A parish is a community of Christ's faithful within the Diocese. The pastoral care of the parish is entrusted to a parish priest by the bishop.

The Second Vatican Council recommends that

In dioceses, as far as possible, councils should be set up to assist the Church's apostolic work, whether in the field of evangelization and sanctification or in the fields of charity, social relations and the rest; the clergy and religious working with the laity in whatever way proves satisfactory.

(Apostolate of the Laity, n.26)

By reason of the knowledge, competence or pre-eminence which they have the laity are empowered--indeed sometimes obliged--to manifest their opinion on those things which pertain to the good of the Church. If the occasion should arise this should be done through the institutions established by the Church for that purpose and always with truth, courage and prudence and with reverence and charity towards those who, by reason of their office, represent the person of Christ. (The Church. n. 37)

In the Code of Canon Law(Canon 536) states that

#1. If the diocesan bishop judges it opportune after he has heard the presbyteral council, a pastoral council is to be established in each parish, over which the pastor presides and in which the Christian faithful, together with those who share in pastoral care by virtue of their office in the parish, assist in fostering pastoral activity.

#2. A pastoral council possesses a consultative vote only and is governed by the norms established by the diocesan bishop.

In order for the Church to have the fulness of God's light and guidance the people must be consulted. Thus a totally new ministry of the people of God is born: a special ministry of people and pastor reflecting on the parish's ministerial activity.

On the basis of that reflection a discernment of what needs to be changed or developed in the parish takes place. It is this ministry that is specifically the task of the parish pastoral council.

The parish pastoral council is a representative body of the whole parish, priests, religious and laity, working together to form a Christian community which seeks out and responds to the spiritual and material needs of all God's people.

A parish pastoral council, therefore, should be truly pastoral and reflect the sharing of responsibility for the Church's mission so that the Church in this diocese may be more obviously the presence of Christ.
